Illusions

We are the, the broken ones
We are the ones that never reach their home
We're lost in the water deep down losing out on sight
Oh what a sight we cannot see

You'll be the, the saving one
You'll be the one that ever lead us home
You take the hands and again you're carrying up the weight
Oh this is the weight of life

We could be more than the renegades
We could be more than an illusion
We could be more than the renegades
We could be more than an illusion

You'll be the, the saving one
You'll be the one that ever lead us home
You take the hands and again you're carrying up the weight
Oh this is the weight of life

We are the, the tortured souls

We are the souls that get up to reach their home

We gaze at the hope and again we're suffering the weight

It's just the weight of life
