

Love Again

The loneliest night is finally over
We filled the blanks and the in between
The scares behind it are getting older
We lost the fear to put it off and rip them up again
But now we can breathe again
And now we can approve the pain

You and I could love again
Smothering the weight
That's someone's bound to learn
Take the doubt and start again
Suffering it all for you

We travelled along the dusty road
We catch the rain, we let it in and make it slip away
The summer sun fills up the air
It feels like breathing in

You and I will love again
Smothering the weight
That's someone's bound to learn
Take the doubt and start again
Suffering it all
For you

You and I will love again
Smothering the weight
That's someone's bound to learn
Take the doubt and start again
Suffering it all
For you

Molly's Moon

"Dusk"