Lyrics: Anna-Lena Michel

(Until I) Drop Down

I took a breathe

To realize what it means to be accused by you

You took a break

To push me down, to starve me and again

It's me who runs into the wilderness

Is this the last Good Bye

Before you let me die

This emptiness

It doesn't hurt until, until I drop down

It doesn't hurt, it doesn't hurt until I drop down

We had a choice

To restart what was buried long ago

But these are your rules

You won't reach out for my hands to pick me up

And again it's me who runs into the

CHORUS

You abused me for too long
And savaged me till losing the fight
Now I'll run into the wild
To carry my weight alone
To win the fight like fire in stone

To push me down, to starve me and again
